Originally from Geneva, Roxane was called to the Bar of England and Wales in 2017. She is a tenant at 1 Hare Court Chambers in London, and an associate member at the Etude de Me Anne Reiser, in Geneva. She is admitted to practice at the Geneva Bar.

Roxane specialises in financial remedy proceedings. She is regularly instructed to act in cross-border matters raising issues of recognition, jurisdiction and enforcement, both within and outside the European Union. Fluent in French and German, she often advises and represents French- and German-speaking clients divorcing in England.

As part of her Swiss practice, Roxane advises on forum disputes and cross-border enforcement between England and Switzerland. She also advises on the recognition of Swiss marriage contracts and matrimonial regimes in England, and on the treatment of English nuptial agreements in Switzerland.

Roxane frequently publishes case summaries, legal updates and commentaries on the website www.familylawweek.co.uk, in the Family Law Bar Association's Family Affairs magazine, and in the newsletter of the Swiss online legal platform Schulthess.

Roxane is a member of the Family Law Bar Association, the Franco-British Lawyers Society and of the Ordre des Avocats de Genève.
